

After a long time we can enjoy a meal at home without answering a telemarketers call.

I can understand that the republicans have to pay back the telemarketers for all the money they poured into the election funds, but please not at the cost of our peace of mind.